[Coverand-nee of the Whig & Courier.]

WASHINGTON, Des. 3, 1838.

This being the first Monday in December, the Twenty-fifth Congress commenced its third newgion pand, the Speaker of the House having taken the chair, several members, newly chosen le fil vacancies, were duly qualified, by taking Militari fathii."

The Speaker then read a letter from Mr. Burch, assistant clerk, announcing the death of his principal, Mr. Franklin, since the last seainn clased.

In the ... sun time, however, there occurred a little incident in the business of the House, which it is proper I should mention. Judge Duty, (Whig,) just elected in Wisconsin so the delegate from that Verillary, for the remainder of this Congress, presented his credentials, and claimed to be qualified. Gen. Johes, the late delegate, rose resisted this motion, and eaid that he was the duly elected delegate from Wiscon sin. As it was likely to occupy some time, the conversation was out off by a successful motion to postpone the subject till Thursday. When it preffes un in negerie !... !! gerno pou b efebr statement of the case, and the doings of the

Of these the opposition course throughout, and that very many of his premacy of the Loco Focos, in contradistinction had five.

There had obviously been a great party drill what you have believed to be correct. on this matter, and the first proof of this was farnished by Dromgoole, of Virginia, who moved that the election be viva voce. The reason of this soon became palpable; the Whig candidate most likely to succeed, having a good mamy Lieuds out of his own party. " Mark them, and collar them, sheep as they are," was the word of command, and they were " marked and collared," accordingly. The motion-prevailed, 119 to 90. Then came an effort to put off the election for some days many of the Locos being abount. Lost, 101 to 102 against the pronosition. The cominations were called for and made, and three ballottings were held, resulting

After the second ballot, it was found that there were White enough present, (if united.) to car. opinion? Is it in yielding subservience to the Norcrois, for sale. The land is bounded and perhaps it would be the wiser course for the ry the election, if all voted as they ought, in dictates of party leaders, and abiding by no rule described thus: "A certain tract of land on consistency. And then an effort was made to of action other than the commands of one who get the election postponed, that the Loco-might has proved treacherous to the principles upon are what little. The Speaker was also remind. which he was elected, and who persists in tire. Ed that his vote might be manted, and Polk promised to be prompt, if it should be. The next step was to parrow the question down to two er secure the assent of a majority of Congress?

Zedoc Casey, just elected as a Conservative. by Whig votes, to the 26th Congress, recorded this, his first vote of the session, in favor of the Loco Locos, Voting for Garland.

Lyon of Alabama, aler a professed Wing, joined Grimn, Limore, Lewis, and other Calhounites, and roted against his party.

But the worst case was that of Chailes Sliepard, of North Carolina. Elected by Whigs as a Whig, he first goled for Clarke, and secondly did not vote all, and thirdly-voted for Garland ! 'Pring asked the resson, he said that he had ascestoined that his vote would give it to Garland . that he had roted for Clarke, not thinking it would be eade a party question, that it had been, and they he had now voted for the candi--- - bo we st up by the party whose principlor he [Shepard] meant hereafter to sustain !! I have stated these things with some particular larity, as I am anxious that Mr. Charles Shepard's true position be anown, with relation to the "big party.

- Mr. Tallmadge is accused of having proved a traitor to his party, and of opposing. "the very administration and principles he aided in building up, and but recently sustained." It is true that he has been a warm supporter of the late and present administrations, and has sided, efficiently, in building them up. But it is false, that he was accessory to the building up-and sustaining of the principles now avowed by the administration. He has ever, from its first proposal, been the strenuous opponent of the Sub-Freasury-scheme, which measure is now the leading policy of Mr. Van Buren. He, as do tainly obtained a most unenviable obtariety. many others of the original supporters of Gen Jackson, believes it to be a measure fraught with danger to our liberties 'dangerous, to the best interests of the country, commercial and political: and thus believing, he has dared to act honestly and tearlersly in the discharge of his duty, and for thus during to act, he has been denounced, forsonth, as a federalist.

He has supported Gen. Jacksion and Mr. Van Buren until the introduction of the Sub-Treasury scheme; and for having dared to disobey the imperial mandate in this particular. For refusing to bow the knee to Beat in the worship of false gods, and for not suffering lumself to be chained, in blind submission to the will of one Iman, to the executive car, why, for sooth, he is a federalist.

I could write much upon the inconsistency of the supporters of Martin Van Buren, and demonstrate to an iota their total want of political or common honesty, if the leaders in this county are to be taken as specimens, but I have already occupied too much apace. Very well, Mr. Times, and what title is better than an Indian title-Were not the Indians, the rightful possessors of the soil, long before a white man discovered the country. And if their title has not been extinguished, by grant or purchase, what prevents its validity at the present day? And this we understand to be the case with the title in question. Some years since when Bangor was a amall village, certain impoverished loafers from New Hampshire squatted down upon a portion of the Indian territory adjoining the town. The Indiana taking pity on their ragged and deathtute condition, kindly permitted them the privi lege of fishing in their waters and hunting on their grounds, but without giving up to their possession of a single rood of soil. They were merely tenants by sufference. In course of time however, thus hand hearing veluable by the in cream of Ranges, and the miscreants who infesled it, conceived the idea of disposing of it to ary one who should make them an offer. - They accordingly availed themselves of the absence of the indians on their annual fishing excursion to the head waters of the Penobscot, and sold the tract of land which they pretended they had purchased from the Indiana, to a speculative farm Boston by the name of B. In-relation to the late defaloations in New York, the Editor of the N. Y. Commercial Adertiser offers the following pregnant remarks:

"We are enabled to add a curious circumtance as between Mr. Price and Swartwout There is no doubt that Mr. - Swartwout's defalcations were known, weeks before the election. We ourselves had an intimation of the fact, and gave a kint upon the subject to a friend in Wall street, before the nominations were made. It was the policy of the government, however, to keep the delinquency secret until after the election, lest the Sub-Treasury scheme should be jeoparded by the explosion.

That Mr. Swartwout, however, had been advised of the defection of his defales (ions, longbefore the government officers admit their knowledge-of the fact, there is indubitable proof. ry soon after the bursting of the bubble, Mr. Price received a letter from Mr. Swartwood, in which the latter expressed surprise that there was a defalgation in his money matters with the Treasury. He then proceeded to inform Mr Price that he had negotiated a sale of his Mary iana property, or part thereid, for these boadrod and fifty thousand pounds sterling; and in twference to his alleged detalcation, remarked to Mr. Price that it would be very unwise for the government to make a stir on the subject at Diesent that an agent was coming over from England, to examine the coal lands for the sale of which he was negotiating and that, so soon as the bargain was concluded, he should be able to pay over to the government a million of This admission, laken in connexion with his surprise expressed in the beginning of the letter, that there was any defalcation,
